

POWER AND CONTROL WHEEL

Domestic violence is a socially supported behavior, learned through observation, experience and reinforcement. It is learned through our culture, institutions, families, schools and peer groups.

The "Power and Control Wheel" was developed by the Domestic Abuse Intervention Project in Duluth, MN.